

PRESS RELEASE – WILSON COUNTY

Assistant county manager named

Social service's communication's manager, Ron Hunt, has been named assistant county manager for Wilson County. He will fill the position once held by current county manager, Denise Stinagle.

Hunt brings over 20 years of leadership experience from the Wilson County Department of Social Services. The last seven years as the agency's communication's manager.

Hunt's role as assistant county manager will be different than the role once held by Stinagle. "I want to focus on improving our public relations and communications and strengthening our strategic planning," said Stinagle. "Ron brings those skills to this position and I am excited to have him join our team."

Hunt holds a bachelor's degree in communications from East Carolina University and a master's of social work as a Leadership Scholar from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He also is a graduate of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Ladder to Leadership program through the Center for Creative Leadership.

"I am honored to have the opportunity to serve the citizens of Wilson County in a broader capacity," said Hunt. "We will enhance our public communications while keeping our commitment to quality public service. That is why we are here. Denise has a great vision and it's exciting to be a part of it."

Hunt starts the position October 1.
